THE BACHELORS AND BENEDICKS

MR. AND MRS. HARRY MACFARLANE WHO LED THE COTILLION AT THE BACHELORS AND BENEDICKS' BALL.

Bachelors and Benedicks, debutantes and matrons paid homage to St. Valentine last evening with dancing, feasting and merrymaking, the shrine to the merry saint being raised at the Moana Hotel, where the "175" of society whiled away pleasant hours until the wee sma' ones this morning. Amid the charms of decorations of palm branches which arched over each opening to the sea in the spacious ballroom, relieved here and there by huge heart-shaped decorations of red paper, the fashionable throng whirled away in the mazes of the dreamy waltz and the more strenuous deux temps.

Elaborate appointments were apparent in every feature of the ball, the supper being sumptuous, bordering even on lavishness, the decorations, though simple in arrangement, being of a harmonizing character and the programs dainty souvenirs. Debutantes and matrons were beautifully gowned. Above and flanking the main entrance to the hostelry were majestic shafts of palm branches. Over the steps leading to the corridor and dining room was a festoon of the wine palm seeds caught up with bows of red. Palm branches flanked the corridor to the ballroom, where green and red were the prevailing tones of the decorations. Arching the windows were branches of the coconut, date and wine palms, while boxed fan-palms draped with red lined the walls and formed a pleasing contrast. Festoons of palm leaves tied with red bows hung over the railings of the music gallery. Beneath this was the table laden with the cotillion favors. Supper tables arranged for accommodating the guests after the cotillion, were placed in the palm corridor and on the seaside lawn of the hotel.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the ball opened with a two step as an extra, and then came the regular program. Following the fifth dance was the cotillion, led by Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacFarlane. Mrs. MacFarlane wore a beautiful white brocade silk, trimmed with white chiffon. Next came the four circles figure, for which the favors were gilded arrows and hearts. Then came the pretty debutantes' march, in which the gentlemen carried Japanese parasols and the ladies coquetted behind Mikado fans. The third figure was the chrysanthemum arbor, in which the dancers formed a long archway with huge paper chrysanthemums. When the dancers were whirling way in the waltz, holding aloft their favors, the effect was most striking. At the conclusion of the cotillion figures supper was served and enjoyed till nearly midnight, when the dancing was resumed.

The menu for the supper contained the following tempting array of edibles: Punch

Pineapple Sherbet
Caviar on Toast
Olives
Mortadella
Lobster and Chicken Salad
Galatin of Chicken aux Truffles du Perigord
Sliced Turkey a la Gelee
Duo Ham Braised, Champagne Jelly
Sardines in Tomatoes or in Mustard Sandwiches
Vanilla Icecream with Strawberries
Small Pastry and Cakes
Cafe Noir

The hosts of the dance were as follows: Andrew Adams, D. W. Anderson, A. L. C. Atkinson, Frank Armstrong, A. W. T. Bottomley, George Carter, W. R. Castle, J. L. Cockburn, C. M. Cooke, Jr., Dr. C. B. FOOD NOT ALL

Food is not all the thin man needs. Maybe he's sick. You can't make him eat by bringing him food. But Scott's Emulsion can make him eat. That Emulsion gives a man appetite and feeds him both. It brings back lost flesh.

No trouble about digestion. The weakest stomach can digest Scott's Emulsion. It tastes good, too. Scott's Emulsion paves the way for other food. When wasted and weakened by long illness it gives strength and appetite that ordinary food cannot give. Not only food—medicine, too—Scott's Emulsion of pure cod-liver oil.

We'll send you a little to try if you like.

A LUNATIC AT LARGE IN MAKIKI.

The man, whose name is John Collins, and who was formerly in the employ of the Rapid Transit Company here, but lost his place through excessive drinking, then went to the fire house at Makiki and wanted to borrow a knife there—whether to kill himself or to kill some of the people whom he told Captain Thompson were pursuing him, is not clear. At all events, he left the fire house at about dark, going in the direction of Pensacola street.

It was at this time that the police heard of him, and heard that he had returned to the Inter-Island wharf, too, before going to Makiki, and a number of men were sent out to try and locate him. At a late hour they had not succeeded in doing this.
